Will Lynch All Criminals Who Refuse to Leave.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 3. In response to the action of the city bourd of trustees taken yesterdar afternoon, fity special officers and 200 private citizens were appointed, the latter to serve without pay. These men last night purnded the streets of the city armed with the authority of the law and their invention is to thoroughly deanes this town of the criminal element.

In addition to a series of crimes which have occurred within the last few days, two more were reported yesterday morning. The house of Mrs. A B Kidder, an old woman who lives on Eighth street, was entered Thesday night by burgiars who effected an entrance by the back door Mrs. Kidder rushed out upon hearing them and gave an alarm and they were frightened away At about the same time a young man was held up and rubbed in the eastern part of the city.

New oridence has been discovered in

At about the same time a young man was hold up and robbed in the eastern part of the city.

New evidence has been discovered in the Weber case which has bren kept very secret by the police. On last Monday a son of the murdered couple named Lattler, found a lot of old clothing in the buck vard saturated with blood.

The clothing was under a barrel and covered by a piece of oil cloth. From its appearance it was undoubtedly worn by tramps and one side was thoroughly saturated with blood, leaving no doubt it was tramps who committed the deed. It is also believed that the suits stolen from the Weber House were put on by the murderers in place of that which they cast off.!

In addition to the appointment by the board an association calling itself the committee of safety has been formed with an ex-police captain at its bead.

all known criminals who refuse to leave the city.

Another meeting was held last evening by the citizens' protective association, an organization formed during the late strike. Their purpose is similar to that of the others. It is believed that the three will act in conjunction. The result of yesterday's work has been a general exodus from this city of the oriminal element and it is believed that those found in the city to-day will be dealt with very severely.

On the revised valuation this rate would reduce the amount to be levied upon the different cities and towns for the year 1506 $162,289, and would be upon the basis of wenty cents upon every one bundred dollars but as one half of this amount is returned under the operation of the school tax, it would really leave the tax rate ten cents on one hundred dollars, the lowest rate of taxation for the support of the State government h vied since Malne was admitted into the der any conditions. One trouble about getting the bill nov sefore the Heuse into such a shape as to fully meet the approval of a majority, is that the rules of the House do not give sufficient latitude of amendment. It is assumed by the rules that a bill has been put through all the preliminary preparatlon in the committee. In the present instance, however, the committee practically returned the measure to the House without consideration, and asked the House to do all the work, as if it were the committee! I his renders desirable greater intitute of amendment and substitution than ordinary, and it is believed that a rule grid og exceptional opportun ty for an astitution, as well as fixing the time for a final vote, will be reported from the commistee One of the curious stocks in connection with the financial administration of Secictary Cailisle Is that J Pierpout Morgan, the New York banker, called upon President Cleveland Monday, representing certain New York bankers, and made a formal request for the removal of Secretary Carlisle from the Calumet. The grounds for his request are un crstood to be that the Secretary has not kept faith with the bankers, through whose agency the bond issue was floated, and that he was not demonstrating suitable capacity in handling the dinancial affilirs of the country. It is understood that the President did not say anything to Mr Carbsle at out the matter until terday when he notified him of Mr Mergan's visit and the details of his demand, and said that this had not

tary
If this report is true, it is in harmons with that other report of a few days ago, when the President is said to have commended the New Lork bunkers to a warm place, and to have indicated that he will stand by his Scoretary of the Tressury It is evident that the cordial relations which have so long existed between the President and Wall Street have become greatly strained

This duty, Mr., Wilson explained to day, would have been eliminated from the bill in conference had the donforces been permitted to finish the work on the mensure. It was believed at the time to be an unjust discrimination and little doubt is expressed that when the State Department bill comes there is the committee it will be reported with substantial unaumity. Mr. Wilson endcavored to get his committee together before recess to consider the bill, but so many were absent from the city that he decided to postpone the matter antil the re-assembling of Congress brought most of the number back to Washington.

The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.) for the investigation of the Senate restaurant was laid before the Senate. Mr Allen said the government furnished rooms, fuel, gas, ice and everything in table ware and linen to the Senate restaurant keeper. He asserted there was in this matter "criminal and moral-violation of the statutes of the country." The morning hour expired and the resolution was placed on the calendar, from which it cannot be taken up except by a majority yote.

A joint resolution appropriating $100-000 for the relief of distitute people of the District of Columbis was introduced by Mr Call (Dem., Fla.) and referred The Nearagann canal bill was taken up and Mr Morgan (Dem., Ala.) and dressed the Senate in its support He said he would vote against any substitute providing for a new survey of the canal, as that would bring a cloud of distruct upon the whole subject and would delay the completion of the canal many years and might lose us the advantage of existing concessions.

Mr Morgan regilled to Senator Turpie on various points against the bill and explained in detail the purposes of the measure He remarked that he had never heard of any open and organized opposition to the measure except from the owners of the Central and Southern Patille rallroads, he said if Congress had taken stock in the Pacitle rallroads equal to the subvention in bonds and funds, and if the United States had put a majority of the directors on those boards, there would never have been a Credit

On the calling of the committees for millions in bonds additional to those already put on Mr Dingley (Rep., Me.) asked Mr. McCreary how the passage of the bill would tend to relieve the condition of the treasury and obviate the necessity for the issue of bonds.

Mr. McCreary responded that the provisions of the bill authorizing the rehabilitation of the State banks and the issue of notes by them would relieve the stringency in the country respecting the currency.

Mr Adams (Rep. Penn) protested sguinst the passage of the bill. Ever since the present administration came lute power, there had been continual agstation from which the public itation from which the public interests domanded a rest. Speaking of the changes that had occurred in the financial conditions of the country, Mr. Adams noted the reduction of 50 cents per ton in the price of ceal, a less of $20,000,000 to the poor of the country. Mr Simpson (Pop, kan) asked how a reduction of 50 cents per ton in the price of coal could be a less to the whole people.

Mr. Milliken (Rep., Me.)—"Isn't coal subject to the same monopoly?"
Mr. Pence (Pop., Col.) asked Mr. Adams if the miners of Pennsylvania, Hungarian and others, imported to take places of American laborers, had not experienced stanwatton wages before the advent of the Democratic party to power and under the McKinley bill.
Mr. Adams—"No sir. Those people were prosperous and happy." (Democratic langiter.)

It was a grissy experience which Melvin D. Fibbetts, or Rangeley, passed through a f w days ago in the deeps of the kenebuge woods. He was hunting above, and was on the fresh trail of a deer. He followed it for some distance, and finally came to a spot under a tree where the deer had evidently proceed for a moment as if startled by some unusual noise. Glancing to the left the homer saw something which explained it all. There in the snow were the impelnix of four large chingcy paws, with chaws cutting through the snow at the edge of each. It was the spot where a luge "Amortean tiger" had leaped to kill the deer but missed his prev. Looking Franklin. "Anorem tiger" had leaped to kill the deer but missed his prev. Looking ubend. Tibbotts saw the tracks of the deer as it bounded out into the woods, and there, just behind, was the track of the tiger. Being alone and not earing to have the animal again try a leap from a tree with himself in the place of the deer, Mr. Tibbitts shouldered his rifle and started for home.
